THE STRUCTURE OF THE HIGHER EDUCATION SYSTEM

In the Republic of Azerbaijan, access to higher education is open to every person who finishes secondary education level of general school. Azerbaijan started the reform of its higher education system by joining the Bologna Process in 2005, followed by the adoption of the new Law on Education in 2009. This law formally introduced the European Credit Transfer System (ECTS), three-cycle system of study and diploma supplement. As a result, from the academic year 2009/2010, all newly admitted students have studied under the reformed study programmes at all higher education institutions.

Strategy for Education Development in Azerbaijan until 2025, adopted in 2013, is also an important document seeking to identify purposes, goals, directions, instruments and mechanisms for the development of the education system in the Republic of Azerbaijan. In other words, the Strategy is intended to shape the development of this system in the best possible way.

Higher education is divided into three levels: First level (Bachelor Studies / BSc), Second level (Master Studies / MSc), and the Third level (PhD Studies). Higher education in Azerbaijan is provided at universities/institutes/academies/conservatoires.

First level of studies includes Bachelor Studies – last for 4-5 years, carrying 240 to 300 ECTS (300-360 credits at medical education).

Second level of studies includes Master Studies – lasting for 1.5-2 years and carrying 90 ECTS (for MBA programs) to 120 ECTS (for MSc programs).

Third level of studies includes doctoral studies that are carried out in two programs: Doctor of Philosophy (PhD) and Doctor of Sciences. Doctoral studies are carried out full-time (leaving employment) and part-time (without leaving employment). Full-time education under the Doctor of Philosophy program lasts 3 years, part-time 4 years and through dissertation research 4 years. Full-time education under the Doctor of Sciences program lasts 4 years, part-time 5 years and through dissertation research 5 years.

Higher education institutions organize and implement study programmes within an academic year commencing, as a rule, on 15 September and lasting 12 calendar months.

An academic year may be divided into: 1. two semesters, each lasting 20 weeks and 2. summer semester lasting 6 weeks.

HISTORY OF THE UNIVERSITY

Baku Engineering University (BEU) is one of prestigious public / state higher education institution functions under the Ministry of Education. BEU was established on the 8th of November, 2016, with the status of the Public Legal Entity on the base of one private university which it was established in 1993.

DIFFERENT EDUCATIONAL AND RESEARCH LABORATORIES OF BAKU ENGINEERING UNIVERSITY (BEU)

BEU has a lot of educational and research laboratories. We are going to inform you and show some pictures of BEU laboratories.

There are some laboratories at the Chemical Engineering Department of BEU which they were sponsored by BP Azerbaijan company. They are divided into 4 audiences: General and Analytical Chemistry, Organic Chemistry, Physical Chemistry, and Chemical Engineering. After gaining theoretical knowledge from chemistry courses, the students are engaged in practical activities, and this trend continues in the classes, including analytical chemistry, organic chemistry, physical chemistry, and fluid mechanics.

Experiments are conducted in the General Chemistry Lab in accordance with the General Chemistry subjects. It should be noted that in accordance with safety regulations, the access to the lab is possible in white coats, protective glasses. The laboratory is designed to teach the basic principles and concepts of general chemistry. Moreover, the laboratory empowers students to collect and analyze data, prepare a practice report, and use books. During the course, the students are taught safety rules and precise research techniques in the lab. All the experiments in this field are carried out in practice as students learn the properties of inorganic substances and their transformations as part of the general chemistry course, and then the students conduct their reactions in the laboratory. The laboratory has the necessary equipment and labware for training.

BEU
BAKU ENGINEERING UNIVERSITY

The focus of analytical chemistry and instrumental analysis course is to conduct chemical analyzes and calculations. In analytical chemistry laboratories, students conduct titrimetric methods, gravimetric analysis, and familiarize with the principles of operation of devices such as spectrophotometer, flame photometer, viscosimeter for self-determination. Carl-Fisher machine carried out the analysis of oil and similar organic substances containing small amounts of water and used for accurate measurement of water is also taught in analytical chemistry course. The centrifuges used to dissolve heterogeneous compounds are available in the analytical chemistry laboratory as in other laboratories and are actively used in teaching. The analytical chemistry laboratory is also equipped with a distillation apparatus, taking into account the need for a large amount of distilled water to teach chemistry. Moreover, the laboratory has a pH meter for determining the pH of the substance, electrical conductivity, high-precision scales, while suction cups, dryers, high-temperature stoves, water baths, heater and magnetic mixers for experiments with gas. Students use these devices under the supervision of lecturers and laboratory assistants. Synthesis reactions, acid-base titration, enthalpy and thermal output, cation determination, as well as determination of density of vitamin C with by titration iodometric determination of copper and other experiments are carried out in this laboratory.

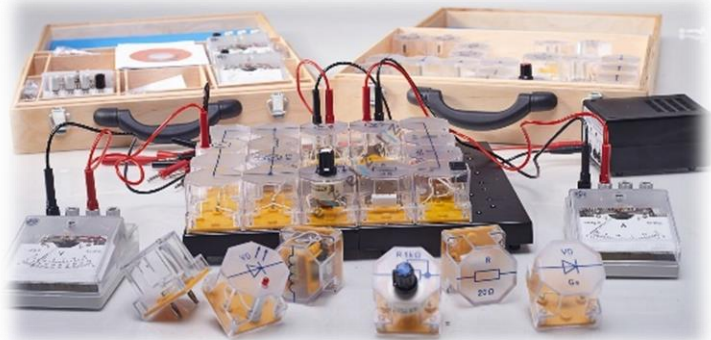

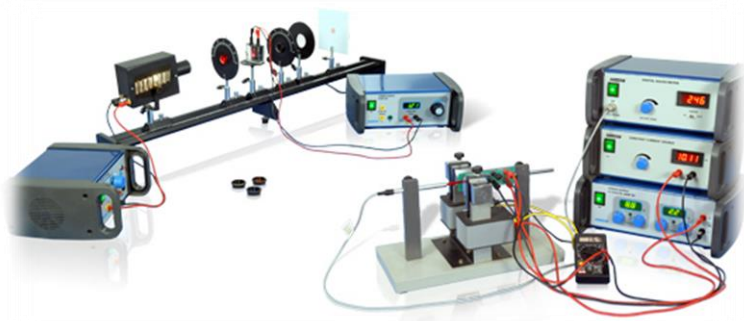

In the Organic Chemistry Lab, students learn both synthesis techniques and transformations, as well as work on the research work conducted. There are also facilities used for separating substances in the labs, which are equipped with the equipment required for the most advanced synthesis. The purity, melting and boiling temperatures of the synthesized substances can be studied in the laboratory.
